Driving Fossil Helps Aids Cure

848. SHRI SHIV PRATAP MISHRA : Will the Minister of ENVIRONMENT AND FORESTS be pleased to state :

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the news-item which appeared in the Indian Express, New Delhi dated 22nd April, 1992 under the caption 'Driving fossil helps AIDS cure' according to which a crab found in Orissa has marvellous medicinal properties ; and

(b) if so, the action Government propose to take to protect this crab ?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF ENVIRONMENT AND FORESTS (SHRI KAMAL NATH) : (a) Yes, Sir. A news item captioned 'Living 'fossil helps AIDS cure' appeared in the Indian Express, New Delhi, dated the 22nd April, 1992.

(b) The horse-shoe crab, which is the species referred to in the news item mentioned above, is not listed in any of the Schedules to the Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972. However, the protection available to flora and fauna from pooching and other disturbances in the coastal and mangrove protected areas like sanctuaries and national parks, including the Sunderban Tiger Reserve, set up along the West Bengal and Orissa coasts, the notification issued by the Government of India under the Environment (Protection) Act, 1986, declaring coastal stretches as coastal regulation zones and regulating activities in the zone, which is aimed at protecting ecologically sensitive coastal and mangrove areas from various development activities and the monitoring of coastal and marine pollution, help in conserving and protecting the horse-shoe crabs.
